

EL PASO WOMEN PLANNING WORK TO FORWARD SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

Mrs. S. J. Fennell, State Chairman of the Suffragists, Outlines Plans at First Meeting Held to Form a League of Women Voters; Urges Women to Pay Their Poll Tax; Explains Work of Committees.

THE first meeting in connection with the formation of an El Paso league of women voters was held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Thursday afternoon, with a number of women interested in suffrage present. Mrs. S. J. Fennell, 710 North Santa Fe street, recently named state chairman of the Texas suffragists, was the principal speaker, and explained to those present plans for the enlargement of the work of the league. One of the main purposes of the organization will be to have El Paso women pay their poll taxes before February 1, in order that they will be eligible to vote in the elections of the coming year. Similar organizations will be in operation throughout the state and nation.

Mrs. Fennell explained first that the National American Equal Suffrage association still is in existence, but that in the future, following completion of its original purpose, it is to be changed into a national league of women voters. This league is to be absolutely non-partisan, non-militant and non-sectarian. Although non-partisan in principle, members may join what party they choose.

Work will be done in the following lines:

For the local suffrage district.

which is the same as the local senatorial district, including 25 counties. Mrs. G. Q. Willis is chairman. Mrs. C. V. Hillman is county chairman, and Mrs. A. A. Critchett is city president. The El Paso Equal Suffrage association also is to be changed in time to the women voters' league, in similar action to the national league. The plan before changing the organization is to complete the work of helping to ratify the two federal amendments regarding suffrage. Under the new plan, the work will consist of hastening prospective citizenship, "lining up" the intelligent voters of the state and other beneficial work. All kinds of women's organizations throughout the country are eligible to become auxiliary members of the suffrage organization, which includes three kinds of membership: auxiliary, affiliated and direct.

The national and each state and county and city organization is to have eight principal committees for the various work, outlined for them. Mrs. Fennell cited these as: (a) American citizenship, (b) protection of women in industry, (c) child welfare, (d) improvement of election laws and methods, (e) social hygiene, (f) unification of laws on the civil status of women, (g) food supply and demand, (h) research. The latter committee will devote its energies largely to the compilation of data concerning suffrage.

Outline of Work. Of the eight committees, the first two are considered the most important and far reaching. Mrs. Fennell explained in her address, the divisions of the work of the American citizenship committee, and the unification of laws on the civil status of women.

1. American citizenship. This committee will devote its energies largely to the compilation of data concerning suffrage.

2. Education of adults by extension classes of the public schools.

3. The making of English the national language by making it compulsory in all public and private schools giving a general education.

4. Higher qualifications for citizenship and more sympathetic and impressive ceremonies in connection with naturalization proceedings.

5. Direct citizenship for women, not at present through marriage.

6. Compulsory education in newspapers of foreign language of lessons in citizenship.

7. Schools of citizenship in conjunction with the public schools, a certificate from such a school to be a qualification for naturalization.

8. The requirement of every applicant for voting privilege to take the oath of allegiance to the United States.

9. Educational qualifications for voters in every state after a certain definite date.

Committee on Protection. Under the points which will comprise the work of the protection of women in industry, Mrs. Fennell explained each division separately. They are tabulated as follows:

1. Abolition of child labor and compulsory education of all children from 6 to 14 years of age.

2. The establishment of an eight hour day for women, a 44 hour week and a day of rest each week.

3. Abolition of night work for women and minors.

4. Establishment of a minimum wage commission in every state with representatives of employers and employees for both men and women.

5. Equal pay for equal work based on comparison and not on sex.

6. Right of workers to organize.

7. Establishment of state and federal employment systems.

8. Adequate appropriation in each state department of labor and a special bureau for women in each.

Man Accused of Fleeing Into Mexico Is Apprehended Near Smelter.

Jose Cornelio Perez, charged by indictment with the murder of Pedro Rodriguez, which occurred near the smelter March 11, was arrested Thursday afternoon by deputy sheriff W. H. Cain at a house near the smelter.

Perez is alleged to have fled into Mexico following the death of Pedro Rodriguez and is accused by the sheriff of hiding for more than eight months. He was indicted on the murder charge several months ago.

Perez is believed to have been on the American side only a short time before his arrest. He had gone to a house near the smelter to visit relatives when apprehended by county officials. He is being held in the county jail.

Pedro Rodriguez is said to have been shot following a quarrel over a young woman. Perez was in love with Rodriguez's young sister and the shooting occurred after the brother interfered with Perez's courtship, according to county officials.

It was also stated that Perez was a member of the national and international labor organizations.

Each committee's work that Mrs. Fennell's address laid special emphasis on was the work of the national welfare committee, which is to be organized only when voters are intelligent and the work of the present system is corrected. She also emphasized the fact that the entire organization, from national to city, is strictly nonpartisan and will not take part in political wire pulling or in partisan rows.

The women present decided to hold another meeting October 10 at which time officers for the league of women voters will be elected and the new suffrage association will change in name and work. A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution and bylaws for the new organization.
